

Business Improvement Areas are working for businesses

"BIAs advocate with a strong collective voice for small business and the communities around them; they are economic incubators as they attract visitors and investors. BIAs enhance the pedestrian experience and the public realm. They protect historic integrity while evolving with the needs of the future."

~ Brian Imeson, Owner of Circa Vintage Art Glass and ratepayer with the Inglewood Business Improvement Area

"The BIA is a wonderful place for advocating for local businesses."

~ Paul Sipos, board member with the Mainstreet Bowness Business Improvement Area

"Successful BIAs not only bring benefit to their rate paying members, the businesses, they also benefit surrounding residential areas by increasing housing prices and creating a desirable area where people want to 'live, work and play."

~ Annie MacInnis, executive director with the Kensington Business Revitalization Zone

Overview

In this toolkit you will find information that covers a vast array of BIA-related topics. While many BIA resources and variations of toolkits from across the globe have informed the development of this guide, this is the very first made-in-Calgary BIA Toolkit. It has information related to the most current BIA legislation, including details of the transition from the use of Business Revitalization Zones (BRZs) designation to Business Improvement Areas in Alberta that occurred in 2016 and provides templates and guidelines for BIA board governance, operations and fiduciary responsibilities.

BIAs have a significant and colourful history of achievements in Calgary. The first two BIAs were established in 1984, while the newest one was established in late 2017. There are currently 12 BIAs in Calgary and all are diverse in size, business composition, budget and organizational focus. Each BIA is responsive to the distinct issues and opportunities in their respective areas. One common thread between all Calgary BIAs is that each has people dedicated to creating vital, vibrant, safe and activated business areas that invest in their community. Additionally, all BIAs in Calgary are working to achieve the purposes of BIAs as set out in Alberta's Municipal Government Act (MGA).

I. Introduction

What is a Business Improvement Area (BIA)?

A Business Improvement Area (BIA) is a group of businesses in a defined geographical area that come together to improve said area. Businesses in the defined area are required to pay an additional tax in order to fund projects or events within the district's boundaries.¹ The tax enables the business owners to collectively fund activities to promote and improve the economic vitality of the area that surrounds their business for the purposes set out in the province of Alberta's Municipal Government Act (MGA).² These purposes are to: improve, beautify and maintain property in the area; develop, improve and maintain public parking; and promote the area as a business or shopping district.³

BIAs are active placemaking agents, helping to lead the transformation of public spaces into vital places that highlight local assets, spur rejuvenation and serve common needs.⁴ BIAs serve as incubators of economic vitality, helping to create, promote and sustain distinctive, evolving public spaces. Within BIAs, there is often a rich cross-section of shops, restaurants and services that attract workers, residents and visitors alike, reflecting the diversity of a city. BIAs are key community partners who work in collaboration to develop healthy, vibrant and diverse neighbourhoods.

BIAs in other jurisdictions governed by different legislation may go by other names, such as:

- Business
 Revitalization
 Area (BRZ)
- Business
 Improvement
 District (BID)
- Community Improvement District (CID)
- Special Services
 Area (SSA)
- Special Improvement District (SID)

The concept of BIAs originated in 1970. A group of business people in Toronto were concerned about the economic decline caused by the growing popularity of shopping malls and an extended subway system, both of which were drawing shoppers away from their traditional shopping areas. They banded together to create the very first BIA in the world.

In 2016, the legislation in Alberta changed and Business Revitalization Zones (BRZs) across Alberta became known as Business Improvement Areas (BIAs).

Business Improvement Area's history

The BIA concept is a global phenomenon with Canadian roots. The first BIA was established in Toronto, Ontario. As the very first BIA, Bloor West Village trailblazed the way to the creation of a groundbreaking, formalized method to organize businesses around addressing neighbourhood challenges and opportunities on an ongoing basis. The BIA model, in varying forms, has been replicated and innovated upon around the world. At present, there are over 80 BIAs in Toronto alone.

Local context

In June 1983, the Government of Alberta amended the Municipal Government Act to allow municipalities to enact a bylaw to establish Business Revitalization Zones (now known as Business Improvement Areas).

In 2016, the legislation in Alberta changed and Business Revitalization Zones (BRZs) across Alberta became known as Business Improvement Areas (BIAs).

Calgary's first two BIAs (formerly designated as BRZs) were formed in 1984. Below is an excerpt from a City of Calgary report indicating receipt of its very first request: the submission to establish a 17th Avenue BRZ (now renamed the 17th Avenue Retail & Entertainment District).⁹

Petition No. 84.06.094 for the establishment of a 17th Avenue BRZ, was submitted to the City Clerk's Office on 1984 June 13. It is the first of its kind within the City of Calgary. The Assessment Department found it valid, and on 1984 July 11, Notice of Intention to establish the BRZ pursuant to the Municipal Government Act, Section 171.2(2) was mailed to 480 businesses which were found to be on the current business assessment roll within the area proposed by the petitioners for BRZ designation. The petitioned area is 17th Avenue between Macleod Trail and 15 Street S.W., and 16 Avenue between 7 and 8 Streets S.W.

Not long after the request to establish the first BIA in Calgary, a second request was received to establish a South Calgary BRZ (now known as Marda Loop BIA).¹⁰

Petition No. 84-09-123 for the establishment of the South Calgary BRZ, was submitted to the City Clerk's Office on 1984 September 30, following validation by the Assessment Department. On 1984 October 1, Notice of Intention to establish the BRZ pursuant to the Municipal Government Act was mailed to 71 businesses which were found to be on the current business assessment roll within the area proposed by the petitioners for BRZ designation. The petitioned area is, essentially, 33 and 34 Avenues S.W. between Crowchild Trail and 19 Street S.W., and the two blocks defined by 34 and 36 Avenues, between 17 and 19 Streets S.W.

The newest BIA in Calgary, the HIPville BIA, was formed in 2017 November. HIPville is located in Highland Park and is the first BIA in Calgary to be established in an industrial area. Calgary currently has 12 BIAs, all with their own distinct identity. Not all BIAs look and feel the same. They are, however, united by the common purposes outlined in Alberta's Municipal Government Act.

Economic value of businesses in Calgary's BIAs"

- With over 5,400 businesses represented, businesses in BIAs comprise about 20 per cent of all businesses in Calgary.
- Businesses in BIAs contribute:
- $59 million in annual business taxes.
- $660 million in assessed property and business values.
- Businesses in BIAs also account for 220+ city blocks of businesses.

Measuring success for a BIA

It is important to measure the success of a BIA because it can be used as a tool for strategic planning, a way to stay accountable to a tax base, communication impact and help guide decisions. One way to do this is for BIAs or an outside body to measure the return on investment (ROI) BIAs provide back to their taxpayers. Measuring ROI can be done in many ways and should encompass both quantitative and qualitative measures because the affect BIAs have on an area is more profound than simply quantifying services. It is important to capture the social return on investment BIAs make to the area. It has to do with what these services achieve as a whole and how the final product equals more than the sum of its parts. It really is about the fact that BIAs convey the message that someone cares about this area.

There has been some research done to aid in measuring ROI for BIAs coming out of South Africa¹² and Ontario.¹³ ¹⁴ Many indicators have been identified as possible ways to measure ROI such as: street appeal, economic development, property values, business permits, number, location and size of BIAs, community building, business variation in an area and business resiliency to name a few. Further, The City of Edmonton has created health indicators that are used and tracked by both City Administration and the BIAs to measure the impact of revitalization activities within BIAs.¹⁵ The key elements of these health indicators include tracking inputs, activities, outputs and short/medium/longer term goals for the area. The City of Edmonton also has "Control & Performance Measures" which include: occupancy rates; citizen attitude surveys; crime rates; lease rates; and pedestrian/visitor counts. It is these measurements that help to convey the value of BIAs and showcase their ROI back to their tax base and local government.

II. BIA legislation and processes

Overview of BIA legislation

BIAs and their respective boards are regulated by sections 50 to 53 of the Municipal Government Act¹⁸ and the Business Improvement Area Regulation, AR 93/2016 (the BIA Regulation)19 (Appendix I).

On July 1, 2016 the Province of Alberta amended the Municipal Government Act, RSA 2000, c. M-26 to replace all references to BRZs with BIAs. The former BRZ Regulation, AR 377/94, which expired on June 30, 2016 was replaced by the BIA Regulation. As a result, effective July 1, 2016 the BRZ designation was changed to BIA. Under the transitional provisions in the BIA Regulation, a BRZ established under the old legislation is deemed to be a BIA under the new legislation.

There are still some BIAs in Calgary that use BRZ in their name.

BIA establishment

A BIA is established in accordance with the BIA Regulation. Full details can be found in sections 2-6 of the BIA Regulation.²⁰ The table below outlines the timeframe and activities associated with a request to establish a BIA.

Annual timeframe	Activity
Year round	Interested business community members can contact City of Calgary BIA staff to understand what a BIA is and the establishment process for a BIA.
	Interested business community members form a committee to establish a BIA called the Establishment Committee.
Prior to January 15	Establishment Committee informs City of Calgary BIA staff of desire to submit a request to establish a BIA.
	Establishment Committee provides a written description and map of proposed geographic boundary of BIA to City of Calgary BIA staff.
By the end of February	City of Calgary to map proposed area with detailed property information and ensure accuracy with Establishment Committee.
	City of Calgary to provide relevant data associated with potential taxpayers in the proposed area to Establishment Committee.
	• Establishment Committee to conduct public engagement activities and gather signatures for support of the establishment of a BIA.
Prior to the end of March	Establishing Committee may wish to have their request to establish package be looked over by the BIA staff before submission to City Clerks.
By last business day in March	 Establishing Committee to submit request to establish package and signature pages to City Clerks to get stamped and to the City of Calgary's BIA staff on the last business day of March. The signature pages must be signed by persons who would be taxpayers if an area was established and representing at least 25 per cent of the businesses if an area was established.
By April 30 (or within 30 days of receiving a request)	 City of Calgary to verify signatures. After signature verification: If 25 per cent is not met a BIA will not be established. If 25 per cent is met City of Calgary will mail out a Notice of Request to all potential taxpayers in the proposed zone.
By June 30 (or 60 days after the notice of request was	End of wait period for the submission of a petition objecting to the establishment of a BIA in the requested area.
issued)	If there is not a valid petition submitted objecting to the establishment of a BIA, then the request can proceed.
July and August	Report to Council preparation by City Administration.
	Continued engagement activities by Establishing Committee with persons who would be taxpayers if an area was established.
September/October	Report to Council for approval.
	Interim BIA Board is appointed by Council if approved.
	Following approval of Council, the BIA is to hold an Annual General Meeting to elect the actual board and approve the annual BIA budget.
December	Actual BIA Board is appointed through the BIA Board Membership Report.
January	Approval of BIA budget through the BIA budgets and enabling bylaws report.
	First annual BIA cheque is sent to the BIA Board of Directors by The City of Calgary.

BIA boundaries

Considerations for determining a BIA boundary:

- The geographical size of the BIA.
- Is there merit in considering a larger or smaller boundary area?
- The concentration of businesses in the BIA.
- Is there a critical mass of businesses required to generate the revenue to accomplish the goals of the BIA?
- Placemaking opportunities and utilization of local assets.
- Is there diversity and similarity of streets and business areas that foster a sense of place? For example, the proposed BIA area could be a quaint older district, a traditional main street, a restaurant and pub mecca, a newer medical/lifestyles district, a long busy urban corridor, a strip mall or an industrial area.
- Be sure to inquire about all assessable businesses within the identified area; this may include businesses not visible from the street level.

Percentage of signatures needed as per the BIA Regulation:

Establishment:

Signatures representing 25% of taxpayers

Petition against establishment:

Signatures representing 50% of taxpayers

Disestablishment:

Signatures representing 25% of taxpayers

To establish a BIA, at least 25% of the businesses within its proposed boundaries must be in favour.
Once a minimum of 25% has been reached, the BIA Establishing Committee can make a request to Calgary City Council to pass a bylaw to form a BIA.

Business Improvement Areas toolkit II. BIA legislation and processes

²⁰ Business Improvement Area Regulation, AR93/2016.

Other considerations:

- Taxable businesses located within these boundaries will become members of the BIA and will pay the BIA tax. There is no opting out.
- Once those interested in forming a BIA (the BIA Establishing Committee) confirm the desired boundary for the proposed BIA, engagement with the potential taxpayers can begin.
- Public engagement with potential taxpayers in the proposed area is a critical component of a successful BIA request. Examples of public engagement activities include a walkabout to chat with business owners, an open house and written documentation regarding the anticipated benefit of establishing a BIA for the area.
- Letters of support from business owners who want to establish a BIA are great to collect as additional demonstrations of support.
- Collecting baseline data to understand the area's issues and opportunities is important to help determine if a BIA is the right initiative for the area.

Process for amending the boundaries of a BIA²¹

A desire for change to a BIA's boundaries is expressed.

The board's consent to make a boundary change, as per the BIA Regulation 93/2016, section 8(1)(a) and a map outlining the new boundaries must be provided to The City of Calgary on or before the last business day in March of the calendar year.

The BIA board chair/president notifies City Administration of the request to change the boundary.

The request must be accompanied by a justification or declaration of reasonable cause for the boundary change, details outlining the proposed boundary change, and a statement outlining the consultation process (to date and intended) with taxpayers and would be taxpayers under the proposed changes in boundaries.

City Administration drafts a map detailing the requested BIA boundary change, provides the related business assessment data, drafts a proposed Bylaw setting out the change in boundaries and prepares a report for Committee.

Meetings will occur, as required, between Administration and the BIA Board/staff to complete these activities.

If the report is approved at the Committee level, it is then forwarded to Council.

Pursuant to the BIA Regulation, section 8.2, before the proposed bylaw receives second reading at Council, City Administration must ensure that a notice that meets the requirements of subsection (3) is mailed or delivered to every taxable business in the BIA and to every business that would be a taxable business under the change in boundaries.

When the proposed bylaw is before Council, taxpayers in the BIA and people who would be taxpayers under the proposed change are provided with an opportunity to make representations concerning the change to Council, as per the BIA Regulation, section 8.1(b).

The final decision with respect to the proposed change of BIA boundaries is made by Council.

Business Improvement Areas toolkit II. BIA legislation and processes

²¹ Business Improvement Area Regulation, AR 93/2016.

The petition to disestablish a BIA cannot be considered sufficient unless it is signed by taxpayers representing at least 25% of the taxable businesses in the BIA.

The City of Calgary collects the BIA tax and writes a cheque to the BIA at the beginning of the year. The City does not take a percentage of the funds – all of the BIA tax goes directly to the BIA.

BIA disestablishment

A BIA can only be disestablished in accordance with the BIA Regulation. Full details can be found in sections 23-30 of the BIA Regulation. To begin the disestablishment process, taxpayers in a business improvement area may petition for a bylaw to disestablish the zone.

Following this, there are a number of required steps including confirmation of the petition's sufficiency, done by The City of Calgary, as well as a first reading of the bylaw to disestablish the business improvement area. After the bylaw receives first reading, there are further specifications as to a vote by the BIA taxpayers on the disestablishment of the BIA.

BIA name change request

A request must be submitted by the Chair/President of the BIA Board and a map outlining the new boundaries must be provided to The City of Calgary on or before the last business day in March of the calendar year to be approved for the following calendar year. The request must include the current name of the BIA, the desired name of the BIA, the boards rationale for the name change and evidence of the board's decisions to request a change in name. This could include copies of resolutions, board minutes, discussion on what benefits the name change will bring, what the impetus is for changing the name, etc. A sample of a BIA change of name request can be found in Appendix C. After submission the name change request will be presented to Council for their review and potential approval.

BIA tax

Businesses located in a BIA see an additional tax on their annual business tax bill. This tax is collected by The City of Calgary on behalf of the BIA.

How to calculate the BIA tax rate

BIA tax = business assessment x BIA tax rate

- The business assessment is an occupancy-based assessment. Factors such as square footage impact the assessment.
- A board must submit a proposed budget for each calendar year to Calgary City Council (Council) for approval. Council then sets the tax rate based on the budget submitted by the BIA.

Tax rates can be calculated in a variety of ways that include starting with the end budget the BIA has in mind, or starting with how much money the BIA will have based on assessments. Please see Appendix D for an example of how to calculate a BIA tax rate and an example of how individual businesses can calculate how much a BIA proposed tax will cost them annually.

III. Municipal government and BIAs

A BIA is a unique municipal entity. BIAs and their respective boards are regulated by sections 50 to 53 of the current *Municipal Government Act*²⁴ and the BIA Regulation.²⁵ The City of Calgary undertakes specific functions related to BIAs. These include:

- Creating and/or making changes to City BIA bylaw such as: establish a BIA, disestablish a BIA, change a BIA's name and make changes to the boundary of a BIA. All of these requests must be submitted to The City on or before the last business day in March of the calendar year.
- Annually receiving BIA balanced budget submissions for Council review and approval.

Main Streets and BIAs

Calgary's Municipal Development Plan (MDP)²⁶ was adopted by City Council in 2009. It contains policies that will shape how Calgary grows and develops over the next 30 to 60 years. The MDP includes long-term growth target minimums for 24 main streets (referred to as corridors in the MDP), which are well suited for long-term growth.²⁷ Main streets are ideal places for mixed-use development, including residential, commercial and retail development. Access to transportation options, infrastructure and amenities make these areas great places to live, work or visit, and great opportunities for BIAs and The City to collaborate on development.

The City of Calgary offers several ways to report issues on City-owned property:

311 BIA expedited service requests

The City of Calgary highly values BIAs as community partners recognizing BIAs are often the first to know of issues in the public realm. The City has, therefore, established a BIAspecific 311 service request in which BIAs receive expedited priority service.

To access this service, BIAs can go to the following BIA only webpage to submit any general requests:

https://calgary-csrprescwi.motorolasolutions.com/Public/ServiceRequest.mvc/SRIntakeStep2/CBPICRTR

311 mobile app

The 311 mobile app allows BIAs to connect with City services at any time. Special functions of this app include the ability to:

- Attach a photo to service requests;
- Use the GPS function in a smartphone to allow the app to detect locations; and
- Track the status of a service request using an auto-generated service request (SR) number.

For expedited service through the 311 mobile app, BIAs should enter their specific BIA name under the comments section (e.g. Montgomery on the Bow BIA). Be sure to use an email address that has your BIA unique identifier in it to help identify the BIA further. For more information on the app, please go to: calgary.ca/cfod/csc/Pages/About-311-Calgary-App.aspx

City Council

BIAs interact with Calgary City Council and committees for many things such as establishment and disestablishment, budget approvals, board appointments, name and boundary changes, planning and development topics and many more. As there are often times when BIAs will have reports going to Council and reasons to interact directly with Council members, it is important to know what are City Council procedures and protocols. The information in Figure 16 outlines how to interact with Calgary City Council and its committees.²⁸

City policies and projects

The City of Calgary has a number of policies and projects that may affect and benefit the work of BIAs. They range in scope from food trucks and sandwich board advertising to business tax consolidation and snow route parking bans. Existing agreements focus on creating safe and clean environments, the activation of public space and stewardship of the public realm. More information specific to each individual BIA and existing agreements is available by contacting The City of Calgary BIA staff.

Planning and development

BIAs are one of many participants in the urban planning and development process. BIAs are typically consulted on development applications, transportation and parking issues, public realm issues, and the creation of policies and plans that may affect the BIA area.

A broad BIA planning role may include:

- Providing advice, background information, area context, and a voice for BIA issues and concerns to The City of Calgary on planning, development and transportation matters.
- · Advocating for needed planning activities.
- Attracting desirable development.
- Making local improvements.

The BIA may also work together with landowners, developers and other stakeholders, including Community Associations (CA), Social Recreation Groups (SRG) and Resident Associations (RA).

Make sure your BIA is on the list for receiving development circulations. Talk to your BIA City contacts about this or contact Development Permit Circulation directly at dp.circ@calgary.ca or 403-268-5744.

Development circulations

The City of Calgary frequently circulates development applications to BIAs and asks them to provide comments. These applications include development permits, land use redesignation (also known as rezoning), and Area Redevelopment Plan (ARP) amendments. BIAs may see multiple circulations every month. The role of the BIA is advisory: to comment on how a proposed development fits into the area and suggest changes that could make the proposed development more compatible or beneficial. Most routine applications have a short time frame to respond. Depending on the application, and how the process goes, the BIA role may also include speaking to a public hearing of City Council on a land use change, or appealing (or supporting) a development at the Subdivision and Development Appeal Board.

CAs can also comment on developments, including in the BIA area, and file appeals. It is a good idea for the BIA and the CA to communicate on development issues, to share perspectives on circulations within the BIA, and to be aligned where possible.

Responding to development circulations

How BIAs manage a response to an application or issue will vary depending on the issue, the timeframe for responding, and how the BIA itself operates. In most cases, BIA staff respond, and will often work with a board member or committee whose responsibility includes planning and development. Sometimes the whole board will participate, depending on the issue.

In dealing with planning and development issues, it is best for the BIA to have a strategic plan for how they want to see the area develop. This preparation will help you to provide consistent responses to applications, take advantage of opportunities and leverage new development to benefit the BIA.

Community Associations

Community Associations (CA) are volunteer-run, not-for-profit organizations registered under the Societies Act. Calgary has over 150 Community Associations with 20,000+ volunteers.³¹ Community Associations exist to bring together local residents to engage in community and civic life, serve as a voice and advocate for the community and offer programming and events.³²

There are multiple ways in which CAs and BIAs can work together. Some areas of collaboration may include neighbourhood beautification, graffiti abatement, safety and social issues, community-building initiatives like festivals and seasonal events and fundraising. In order to determine common goals, objectives and projects, CAs and BIAs are encouraged to directly connect to build relationships and explore partnership possibilities. For example a BIA and CA may wish to develop a community asset map as a starting point from which to begin collaborating. A wide range of community asset mapping resources can be found online and through The City of Calgary BIA staff.

BIA associations

There are regional and global networks that serve as important connectors for BIA-related work, resources and educational opportunities.

Alberta BIA Association

There is a new provincial organization called ABBIA. The co-founders are Annie MacInnis from the Calgary Kensington BRZ and Ellie Sasseville from the Edmonton Kingsway BRZ. There are currently 33 BIAs who have joined the organization across Alberta.

Regional BIA associations

There are regional associations that offer additional resources as well as networking and educational opportunities for BIAs. In close proximity to Alberta is the Business Improvement Areas of British Columbia (BIABC). BIABC was formed in 1991 to assist and promote the BIA movement in British Columbia. Today, they represent more than 60 business districts and have members from all across Western Canada.

Global BIA associations

The Washington, D.C.-based International Downtown Association (IDA) is a champion for vital and liveable urban centres. IDA provides tools, intelligence and strategies for creating healthy and dynamic centres that anchor the well-being of towns, cities and regions of the world. IDA has an extensive global network of members that spans from British Columbia to South Africa.

NOTES

IV. BIA board governance

What is governance?

Governance can be defined as the way an organization exercises its authority, control and direction.³⁶ In the context of BIAs, governance is the process of exercising corporate leadership — authority, control and direction — by the BIA Board (the governing body) on behalf of the taxpayers (its members).³⁷

BIA legislation and governance

The highest authority of BIA governance comes from the MGA. Flowing from this authority is the BIA Regulation, following that is The City of Calgary BIA establishing bylaw, and then the BIA's internal bylaws/operating guidelines. In a nutshell, each subsequent governing piece following the MGA cannot contravene the higher governing authority, all the way up to the MGA. For example, the BIA's internal bylaws/operating guidelines cannot contravene The City of Calgary BIA establishing bylaw, the BIA Regulation nor the MGA. Figure 21 illustrates the interconnectedness between these different BIA governing aspects.

Levels of legislative authority

Governance is a process. It is the way an organization exercises its authority, control and direction.

REMINDER

The purposes of a BIA, as mandated by the MGA, is to:

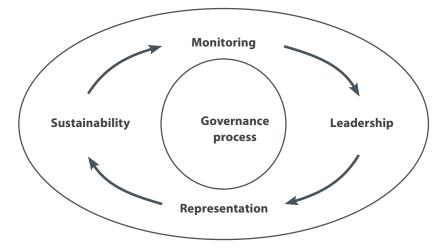

- 1. Improve, beautify and maintain property within the BIA.
- Develop, improve and maintain public parking.
- 3. Promote the BIA as a business or shopping area.

A BIA in Alberta can be established for one or more of these purposes.

Alberta Culture and Tourism, "Foundations of Governance," City of Calgary Workshop, Calgary, AB, May 17, 2017.
 "Effective Governance," (PowerPoint), downloaded from George Cuff website, georgecuff.com/public/download/documents/2085, accessed November 2017.

A BIA's board members are appointed by council under the terms of The City's bylaw that established the BIA. The board is responsible for addressing the needs of the defined area as identified by the business owners that are liable to pay the BIA tax. The table below outlines the various BIA governing authorities' documents, their purposes and where additional information can be found:

BIA governing authorities documents	Purpose of documents	Where to find documents/ additional information
Municipal Government Act	The MGA is the legislative framework in which all municipalities and municipal entities across the Province of Alberta operate. 38 Division 5 contains specific BIA information regarding purpose, the board, civil liability of board members and regulations. Division 4 contains information related to the BIA tax.	Appendix I Online: qp.alberta.ca/ documents/Acts/m26.pdf
BIA Regulation	The BIA Regulation is a regulation made under the MGA and is filed as Alberta Regulation under the Regulations Act . ³⁹ Its purpose is to carry out the BIA provisions of the MGA.	Appendix I Online: qp.alberta.ca/ documents/Regs/2016_093.pdf
The City of Calgary BIA establishing bylaws	 In June 1983, the Government of Alberta amended the MGA to enable municipalities to enact a bylaw to establish a BIA. The bylaw establishes a board to govern the BIA, and the board members are appointed by Council. Council's authority to establish a BIA is found in Sections 50 to 53 of the MGA and Sections 2 to 6 of the BIA Regulation. 	Appendix I A copy of each individual BIA City bylaw can be obtained from the City Clerk's office. calgary.ca/ CA/city-clerks/Pages/Legislative- services/Bylaws.aspx Details from each BIA Bylaw can be found online related to the appointment of City boards, commissions and committees. BIA internal bylaws/ operating guidelines	Bylaws are governing rules and regulations. They tell your members how your organization will be managed and how decisions will be made. ⁴⁰	Appendix I Sample BIA bylaws courtesy of Inglewood BIA *Internal BIA Documents.

Within the literature on good governance, there are a number of models that talk about governance as a process. One such model is offered by George Cuff. According to this model there are four key components of the governance process including:

Leadership	Assigned authority to define where an organization is going and how it will proceed.
Representation	Represent the interests and rights of the shareholders/taxpayers.
Sustainability	Oversight of the ongoing health of the organization and a continual assessment of what will contribute to the accomplishments of the organization's goals.
Monitoring	On a continual basis, review and assess the performance of the organization and its staff, based on self-assessment as well as stakeholder feedback.

Key attributes of BIA governance

It is critical that a BIA Board functions and operates within the authority designated by the MGA and the related legislative frameworks including the MGA, BIA Regulation, The City of Calgary establishing BIA bylaw and the BIA's own internal bylaws.⁴²

Key attributes of BIA governance include:

- As independent corporate legal entities, BIA boards are required to ensure their internal BIA bylaws and operations are consistent with BIA legislation.
- Under the legislation, the BIA board members are accountable to the taxpaying businesses within a BIA and to Council.
- The legislation creates a mechanism by which businesses within a designated area can pay a special tax to fund programs to enhance the economic vitality of their area. Therefore, the BIA board members are accountable to the taxpayers who provide the funds that the board administers on their behalf and for their benefit.
- BIA boards are also required to comply with certain legislative requirements. These include Council appointment of their board members, Council approval of their proposed budget and the need to abide by the financial restrictions and reporting obligations as set out in the BIA Regulation. This makes them accountable to Council as well.

Board members should be provided with thorough briefing on roles, authority, jurisdiction and fiduciary responsibilities at the outset of a term and periodically throughout.

Board governance best practices

The role of the BIA Board is to guide the implementation of the BIA's mandate, as set out by the Municipal Government Act, and to develop the mission and strategic direction of the BIA while overseeing the day-to-day operations of the organization. The fulfillment of these activities requires good governance principles that are adhered to by the BIA Board.

Some overarching principles of good governance include:43

- · Clarity of mandate and authority.
- Authority of the board based on BIA legislation and internal bylaws/operating guidelines.
- Annual orientation on the meaning and processes of governance.
- Board members are advised of their roles at onset of term and understand their roles and expectations.
- Board members are updated on roles on a regular basis.
- Comprehensive, sound and transparent decision-making process.
- · Full disclosure of relevant information.
- Focus on results.
- Trust relationship.
- Independence for the board.
- · Oversight to policy decisions
- Decisions reflect taxpayer values and concerns.
- Advocacy.
- Ongoing and effective fiduciary monitoring.
- · Regular feedback mechanism.
- Continual reporting on results and accountability.
- · Succession planning.
- Full understanding of board responsibility and liability.
- · Proper delegation of authority.
- Understanding of expectations, evaluation, and decision making power of staff.

Good governance includes a strong board and team that has:

- Respect for each other.
- Different ideas, styles and talents.
- Respect for independent views and the ability to be comfortable disagreeing on issues.
- Concern for different projects.
- A sense of common vision.
- Respect for the rules.
- A desire to serve all members.

Board directors have various duties and responsibilities. The most fundamental of these responsibilities is the duty of directors to act in the best interests of the organization they serve at all times, even at the expense of their own self-interest. This is known as a fiduciary duty.

A fiduciary duty is the highest standard of care. All board members have a fiduciary duty and a person who has a fiduciary duty is called the fiduciary. If fiduciary duties are breached, the fiduciary could be held personally liable. There are generally three main fiduciary duties: duty of care, duty of loyalty and duty to act within scope of authority.

Governance is always the job of the board, whether it is a policy board or an administrative board.

Governance and organizational health

Good governance contributes to overall organizational health. It requires continual self-assessment to understand areas of strength and areas for improvement. ⁴⁶ In Appendix G you will find a self-assessment tool that can be used to assess the overall health of an organization. This tool is one of many resources available. Explore and choose the tool that best fits the needs of your BIA.

Roles and responsibilities of the BIA Board of Directors

The role of the board of directors is to oversee the organization's affairs within the framework of applicable laws and standards. Typically, the BIA Board of Directors sets the strategic direction of the organization and works to develop policies and strategies focused on the strategic direction of the Board. A clear understanding of the roles and responsibilities of the BIA Board of Directors, and the BIA staff, is paramount to good governance and the proper functioning of a BIA.

Responsibilities of the BIA Board of Directors include overseeing:47

- · Mission and strategic direction
- · Financial management
- Organizational sustainability
- Stakeholder relationships

Roles of the Board of Directors:

- Officers/Executive
- Chair/President
- Vice Chair/Vice President
- Treasurer
- Secretary
- Directors at Large

Sample BIA Board of Director job descriptions can be found in Appendix F. Additionally, resources related to the roles and responsibilities of the Board of Directors can be found through organizations such as Alberta Culture and Tourism.⁴⁸

A number of board committees can be created to serve BIA purposes. These include committees focused on:

- Streetscape
- Parking
- Events
- Governance
- Fundraising

- Succession planning
- Board recruitment
- Placemaking
- · Social media
- · Board evaluation
- Stakeholder relations

Types of governing boards

There are two types of governing boards: policy governing boards (policy boards) and administrative governing boards (administrative boards). Both types of boards are working boards and are responsible for the governance and the creation of policy for the BIA.⁴⁹

Policy Governing Board

A policy board sets policy and typically hires and provides oversight to staff (usually an executive director) to implement the policy. The executive director is directly accountable to the board and is responsible for the day-to-day operational duties of the BIA. The board likely has delegations of authority in place to give the executive director responsibilities like hiring, supervising and releasing both paid BIA staff and volunteers.

Administrative Governing Board

An administrative board sets policy and then appoints an executive committee to implement the policy. This type of board does not typically have hired staff in the position of an executive director. The committee manages the organization and may hire an administrator to assist with administrative functions.

BIA staff

BIA staff are accountable to the BIA Board of Directors and typically focus on the operational aspects of the organization. It is critical that the Board of Directors ensure proper delegation of authority for staff to conduct activities including signing authority for the organization. There are many types of staff positions the board can consider including:

- Executive Director
- · Administrative Assistant
- Project Manager
- Marketing Coordinator
- Placemaker

A sample job description for a BIA executive director and an administrative assistant can be found in Appendix F. Additional resources for the development of staff positions are available through organizations such as Alberta Culture and Tourism,⁵⁰ The Federation of Calgary Communities⁵¹ and Propellus.⁵²

The BIA Board may hire staff to undertake operational duties related to the strategic plan. Each BIA has unique staffing needs and these must be considered in determining staffing arrangements.

Hiring BIA staff

BIA staff can ensure the success of programs and projects. Staff who show dedication and passion are key attributes for a well-organized and efficiently-managed BIA. Some BIAs operate with volunteers while others have paid, professional staff that manage the BIA's daily operations, programs and projects. An executive director is typically one of the paid positions in a BIA. Other roles can include administrative assistants and communications staff.

Staffing needs will differ within each BIA. When hiring, BIA boards should consider a number of factors including:

- Identifying tasks and priorities needed to implement the BIA's strategic plan, programs and projects.
- Identifying the skills and expertise needed to complete these tasks and priorities.
- Determining what minimum requirements are needed to meet staffing needs.
- Budgeting the proper funds to hire the right people for the job.
- Investigating funding resources (e.g. grants) that may be available from business levies, the community and/or the municipality.

Maintaining a cohesive group of employees is also very important. A continuous team of people employed by the BIA throughout the lifespan and scope of projects, such as main street programs, can be integral keys to success. Building positive partnerships and long-term relationships benefits the community at large.

BIA operational considerations

Insurance coverage⁵³

It is recommended that a BIA consult with an insurance professional and seek legal counsel to best determine BIA insurance needs. Generally, insurance should be tied to the BIA's activities and the potential risks associated with those activities. Some areas to consider for insurance coverage include:

- 1. Injury to persons (physical injury or personal/reputation/mental injury).
- 2. Damage to property.
- 3. Acts of omission by directors.
- 4. Negligence in services provided or activities organized. (i.e. were actions reasonable? Was there a failure to anticipate reasonable risks and to take steps to mitigate the risk?)
- 5. Accidents.

BIAs can assess their organization's liability by anticipating reasonable risks and taking steps to mitigate those risks. There are different types of insurance for BIAs that can help cover the five liability areas mentioned above:

- a) Commercial general liability Covers injury and property damage as well as court costs to defend you, and any contractors and volunteers working for you.
- b) Short-term insurance coverage for occasional activities/events not covered by commercial general liability.
- c) Property insurance.
- d) Social services professional coverage.
- e) Accident insurance.
- f) Director's liability insurance Covers damage or loss from wrongful acts, litigation, defense costs and criminal investigations for Board Directors, the Executive Director and anyone else named in the insurance policy. Does not cover deliberate acts of wrongdoing, prior claims, claims covered elsewhere, fraud or uninsurable risks.
- g) Errors and omissions.
- h) Indemnity insurance.
- i) Vicarious liability Covers the BIA from any liability while employees are travelling on behalf of the organization.
- j) Cyber breach liability This insurance may be required if BIA information about its membership falls under the Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act (FOIP).
- k) Non-owned car insurance.

Recommendations for general best practices regarding insurance

The BIA should discuss the following with their insurance broker:

- Regularly review and identify possible/potential risks.
- Update the insurance broker on any changes to the Board of Directors.
- Prevent/mitigate/limit those risks as much as possible.
- Obtain insurance to manage remaining risks.

⁵³ Annie MacInnis, "Insurance Information," email message to Brandi Kapell, November 30, 2017.

The BIA can also take the following steps to reduce insurable risk:

- Obtain a contract and insurance certificate/signed waiver for all persons hired by the BIA.
- Notify the Workers' Compensation Board of all hires.

Freedom of Information Policy (FOIP)⁵¹

The basic objectives of the Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act (the FOIP Act) are to ensure that public bodies are open and accountable to the public by providing a right of access to records; and to protect the privacy of individuals by controlling the manner in which public bodies collect, use and disclose personal information.⁵⁵

Personal Information Protection Act (PIPA)⁵⁶

PIPA applies to provincial private sector organizations, businesses and, in some instances, to non-profit organizations for the protection of personal information and to provide a right to access to an individual's own personal information. Organizations that are subject to PIPA must develop and follow policies that are reasonable to meet its obligations under the Act.

BIAs do fall under both FOIP and PIPA legislation and must abide by both pieces of legislation.

Strategic planning

The Board of Directors creates the strategic plan for the BIA, setting out the mission, vision, values and strategic direction. The plan helps BIAs manage mission drift, outside or internal influences (personal agendas) and succession planning.

A strategic plan should:

- Determine what your BIA is, what it does, why it does it, with a focus on optimizing the BIA's future potential.
- Set the overall direction for the BIA.
- Cover about three to seven years and outline the future development of the BIA.
- Drive priority setting.
- · Allocate and prioritize resources and outline budgeting activities.
- Be sustainable and future focused.
- Be a road map to achieve objectives.
- Be primarily an internal planning tool to motivate, inspire and lead the Board, Executive Director and staff's workflow and direction.

Typical components:

- Introduction.
- Executive summary Captures the essence of the BIA and its goals including mission, vision, long-term aims, acknowledgements, etc.
- Overview Historical context of the BIA, key stages of development, how the board sees the BIA and how the board wants others to view the BIA's work.
- Critical issues and strategies Asset mapping, internal and external issues, SOAR analysis.
- Aims and objectives Goal setting and action planning which outline how aims will be realized in practical terms, how progress will be monitored, strategic goals, strategic scope, key success factors.
- Management of the strategy Set of priority initiatives for addressing immediate opportunities and risks.
- · Expectations for employees.
- Outline the "how" How results will be achieved, what needs to happen to achieve success, how the BIA will measure success.

Benefits of a strategic plan:

- Establishes direction.
- · Aids in making more informed business decisions.
- Creates longevity of the BIA.
- · Increases profitability and market share.
- Increases job satisfaction for staff.
- Avoids mission drift.
- Makes it harder for personal agendas to push board off course.

Additional considerations:

- The strategic plan should be the primary document to reference when setting the BIA's budget. Financial aspects of the plan should be tracked at each board meeting.
- Planning staff priorities.
- By establishing measurable goals, the Executive Director or staff are able to align efforts throughout the year (outlined in the business plan).
- Board members should be fully engaged in the strategic plan process and provide their perspectives on both the current and future direction of the BIA.
- The plan should be reviewed and assessed regarding the Board's achievement of the outlined goals. It should be reviewed each monthly or quarterly board meeting to make sure the Board is on track.
- Focus is placed on the important things. Resources (time, talent, money) are properly allocated to those activities that provide the most benefit.
- · Growth can be accelerated and improved.
- Poor performing areas can be identified and eliminated.
- Provides a road map to show where the BIA is going and how to get there;
- Develop better internal coordination of activities.
- Develop a frame of reference for budgets and short-range operating plan.

Business planning

A business plan is typically made after a strategic plan has been developed. Strategic plans are usually drafted by the Board of Directors while business plans are created by the Executive Director and/or staff. Business plans should be made to further the strategic plan. Business planning outlines how the BIA will run its day-to-day business and is tied to marketing, operations and financial plans.

A business plan should:

- Be informed by the Board of Directors strategic plan.
- Run business, direct operations and obtain funding.
- Cover one to three years.
- Provide structure for ideas to define the BIA more formal and detailed in its structure and content.
- Support need to seek funding.
- Be tactical.
- Contain three key components marketing plan, operational plan and financial plan.
- Be primarily an externally focused document that provides more detailed information on the BIA's proposed development. The plan should be shared with funding bodies, current and potential, and include more detailed information on the BIA's financial position and financial forecast.

Typical components:

- · Business overview.
- Executive summary.
- · Sales and marketing plan.
- Operating plan.
- · Human resources plan.
- Action plan.
- Financial appendix.
- Programs, services and events overview and implementation.
- · Contingencies.
- Tasks, milestones, goals, risks, potential for success.
- Outline who, what, how, where and when.

Benefits of a business plan:

- Better planning and management of cash flow.
- Provides a way to be proactive, not reactive, about business.
- Staff can be in alignment with the BIA Board and the strategic plan.
- · Business objectives will be clear.
- Aids in obtaining funding.
- Minimizes legal problems.

Financial management

Financial management is a very important aspect of any BIA. This includes both financial planning and budgeting.⁵⁷

Financial planning

Boards and their staff should create a financial plan after the development of their strategic plan. This financial plan will be an important component of their staff-created business plan. Financial planning involves:⁵⁸

- 1. Conducting an assessment of needs.
- 2. Prioritizing the most important needs.
- 3. Developing programs, events and projects that address the needs.
- 4. Creating a budget that reflects the cost of the program, events and projects.

Board members are directly liable for any deficiencies incurred by the BIA at the end of the fiscal year.

Budgeting59

Budget objectives should be clear, concise and well-defined for ease of determining the breakdown of costs on every project. Projects may include placemaking, streetscaping, increasing safety and cleanliness, addressing parking concerns, events, and local development. It is important to budget accordingly and realistically so that each project can be completed within the proposed time frame. The purpose of the annual budget is to outline proposed projects and related costs that the BIA will be undertaking for the year. The Board develops a proposed annual budget for each fiscal year required by the BIA Regulation. The budget is to be reviewed with the taxpayers/membership and only the expenditures approved through the budget by City Council may be incurred. The City of Calgary provides each BIA with a budget template that must be completed annually and submitted to the BIA business strategist. A copy of the template can be found in Appendix I on page 119.

Goods and Services Tax (GST)

BIAs can typically qualify for a GST remittance. Information on charging GST, registering for an account, filing returns and remitting GST can be found online at: cra-arc.gc.ca/gsthst/

All board members should be able to read and understand the financial statements of the BIA.

BIAs must have a balanced budget.

DID YOU KNOW?

BIAs do NOT have a registered number under any legislative act.

BIA bylaws are established and housed by The City of Calgary.

Funding eligibility

Some funding organizations may require an organization to have society status to be eligible for funding. Since BIAs in Alberta are not registered as societies, this may impact their funding eligibility. However, BIAs can pursue a partnership with a registered society, such as a community association, to potentially act as the fiscal agent for grant applications where society status is required. (For information on how to incorporate a society, please go to: servicealberta.ca/716.cfm). BIAs can also consider entering into a joint venture with another organization to conduct fundraising campaigns. The City of Calgary BIA staff can provide BIAs with a letter stating proof of establishment through City bylaw.

BIAs can also identify funding organizations first to determine which kinds of projects could potentially be funded. However, it is generally advised to develop project needs first to ensure projects actually meet the BIA's mandate and goals, so that any time spent on funding proposals is time well spent. ⁶²

Running effective meetings

Critical to ensuring outcomes are met and time is well spent, key components of effective meetings include:

- Identification of issues and opportunities at the outset of the meeting.
- Collaborative dialogue, planning, problem-solving and decision-making.
- A well-planned agenda with specific time allotments for each agenda item.
- Four key meeting roles: participants, facilitator, recorder, timekeeper.

How can the success of a meeting be measured? One Smart World offers the following as metrics to measure the benefits and success of meetings:⁶³

- Key outcomes are achieved at the end of the meeting.
- More decisions and better decisions are made.
- More options and alternatives are created to choose from when making decisions.
- There is a higher rate of meaningful participation from all members.
- Shorter amount of time is needed or more is accomplished in the same time.
- · Strong personal and group spirit.
- · Higher levels of participant satisfaction.
- Buy-in from participants on decisions.
- · Higher rate of implementation of decisions.
- · Faster implementation of decisions.

A sample meeting agenda, rules of order, best practices for effective meetings and minute taking best practices can be found in Appendix: H.

"Meetings are critical to achieving better results — either they accelerate collaboration and produce first-rate solutions — or they waste valuable time and kill initiative."

~ Bob Wiele

Annual General Meeting

The Annual General Meeting (AGM) of the BIA members takes place once a year to address the legal and procedural requirements of a BIA. An AGM ensures the taxpayers/membership has an opportunity to oversee the annual operation of the BIA, ask questions to the Board of Directors and staff, run for a board position and see/comment on the annual budget.⁶⁴

In addition to the normal procedures of running a meeting, there are a few other specific requirements necessary for an AGM.⁶⁵

- A report from the Executive Director on the proposed activities and budget for the coming year.
- Report from the auditor including financial statements and overview of annual budget.
- Nomination of Board members.

The BIA annual budget, as approved by the Board of Directors as approved by its general membership, must be subsequently presented to City Council for approval. A more detailed and comprehensive list of recommendations and other AGM related materials can be found in Appendix H.

V. Public and community relations

In general, public relations is the strategic management of relationships between an organization and its diverse publics, through the use of communication, to achieve mutual understanding, realize organizational goals, and serve the public interest.⁶⁶

Community relations is the relationship an organization has with the people who live in, and visit, the area in which it operates.⁶⁷

There are a wide range of activities that a BIA can undertake related to public and community relations.⁶⁸ These can include the role BIAs play as communicators and placemakers.

BIAs as communicators

BIAs can play an important role by distributing or creating communication messages. In addition, BIAs can help coalesce the business community by establishing important relationships with other community voices and advocating for broader community concerns. Communications can take the form of news releases, website updates and social media postings. These can be related to marketing and promotion or they can be part of the BIA's brand awareness.

Marketing and promotion

A BIA can encourage residents and visitors to shop and utilize services within the area through various marketing and promotional activities. There are a wide range of marketing and promotion activities including print and radio advertising as well as online promotions.

Social media

Social media has rapidly become one of the most effective tools for public and community relations, especially when it comes to marketing and brand awareness. ⁶⁹ There is a variety of social media networks available including Twitter, Instagram, Facebook, etc. Social media helps to increase the ability to reach wider audiences, potentially on a global scale. It is important to understand who your target market is and that social media often requires a consistent investment.

Some BIAs have staff dedicated to public and community relations. Others choose to hire consulting firms to undertake these activities. Each BIA has unique needs and the BIA Board should assess these needs to determine the best fit for the organization.

BIAs as placemakers

Placemaking

BIAs can spur the development of placemaking opportunities and utilization of local assets to create a shared sense of space and an interactive experience with the area.

Special events

BIAs can organize and work in partnership to create special events that promote and draw people to the area for an experience. Examples include street, theatre, and dance festivals; arts and crafts exhibitions, parades, local farmers' markets, culinary events etc.

On the next page are some assessment questions that a BIA can use to understand what comprises public and community relations activities, and what a BIA can do to ensure good public and community relations:⁷⁰

- The BIA participates and seeks out opportunities that support and promote their organization's mandate, programs and services.
- The BIA has a written plan or goal to maintain or increase participation and involvement in their organization (volunteers, memberships, program attendees, etc.).
- The BIA Board is committed to being welcoming and inclusive at all levels (diversity in board members, staff, members, programs, events, etc.).
- The BIA Board shares their successes and challenges with their members and the community (as applicable).
- The BIA Board approves and reviews written public and community relations' policies and procedures.
- The BIA Board reviews and approves a written marketing plan that supports their strategic and business plan goals and actions.
- ✓ The BIA's marketing materials are informative, easy to read and well distributed.
- The BIA uses different kinds of marketing materials that are easy to read and designed to reach specific groups of people.
- The BIA Board reviews and approves a written communication plan that targets different people.

Appendix A – Establishment documents

Dear Business Owner,90

We are hoping to form a Business Improvement Area (BIA) to work collectively for the success of this business district. Your business will be within the borders and would become a member of the BIA. We would like to invite you to become a founding member of this BIA and partake of the many advantages membership offers.

As a member of a BIA you will pay an additional tax (added to your business tax assessment). In return you will be part of a collective voice for businesses in your area, be a policy influencer for small business, and have collective impact when negotiating with the city on issues directly affecting the business improvement area. Your business will benefit from BIA advertising campaigns, publicity, events, strong collective branding, and increasing the cleanliness and safety of the area to name a few.

We hope that you are interested in helping take this business area to the next level with the formation of a BIA that will establish a sustainable organization to ensure this business area thrives. We look forward to receiving your agreement, in writing.

Please be sure to indicate the name of your business and to sign and date the attached letter if you are in favour of this exciting next step in ensuring the long-term success of our business district.

Appendix C – BIA tax rate calculations

For BIA Board

Steps	Procedure
Step 1	Develop the annual budget (i.e. how much a BIA plans to spend for the following year).
Step 2	Define the Business Improvement Area geographic area and identify what businesses should be included; calculate total business assessment value in terms of dollars.
Step 3	Use the formula below to calculate what the BIA rate would be to raise the required revenue (i.e. BIA tax) to meet the budget requirements.

Sample calculations for a BIA budget of $200,000 (percentages are expressed in decimal form).

Formula	Description	Result
Numerator (a)	Annual budget requirement (i.e. estimated annual expense)	$200,000
Denominator (b)	Total 2017 business assessment value for the defined area (Data provided by City of Calgary)	$10,000,00
Result = (a)/(b)	BIA tax rate	0.02

For businesses in BIA area

BIA tax = Business assessment \times BIA tax rate

Sample calculation for a business with an assessed value of $20,000 and a 0.02 BIA tax rate:

Formula	Description	Result
Numerator (a)	Personal business assessment value	$20,000
Denominator (b)	BIA tax rate	0.02
Result = $(a)x(b)$	Annual BIA tax rate paid by business	$400

Conflict of Interest Policy

Policy type: Governance Process Policy title: Conflict of Interest⁹³

All Board members should read and sign this document at the first meeting of the newly constituted Board after the AGM.

Members of the Board of directors and staff are expected to reveal any personal, family, or business interests that they have, that by creating a divided loyalty, could influence their judgement in decision-making. A conflict of interest exists whenever an individual could benefit, disproportionally from others, directly or indirectly, from access to information or a decision over which they might have influence or where someone might reasonably perceive there to be such a benefit and/or influence.

Examples of possible conflict of interest situations with respect to Business Improvement Area (BIA) include but are not limited to:

- A Board member had a personal or business relationship with the BIA as a supplier of goods or services or as a landlord or tenant.
- A staff member had a personal or financial relationship outside of the workplace with a client or supplier who he/she/they deal with directly as a representative of the BIA.
- The BIA is employing someone who is directly related to a Board member or other staff member.

Conflicts of interest (real or perceived) are unavoidable and should not prevent an individual from serving as a director or staff member unless the extent of conflict of interest is so significant that the potential for divided loyalty is present in a larger number of situations.

Procedures for handling a conflict of interest

- 1. Members of the Board and staff have a duty to disclose any personal, family or business interests that may, in the eyes of another person, influence their judgement. Directors shall disclose conflicts of interests to the Board and staff members shall disclose to the executive director.
- 2. The Board as a whole has a duty to disclose specific director conflict of interests to BIA members, staff and external stakeholders where that interest may, in their judgement, affect operating in the presence of such conflicts. The presence of this policy may not be sufficient disclosure.
- 3. Board members and staff have a duty to exempt themselves from participating in any discussions and voting on matters where they have, or may be perceived as having, a conflict of interest. Such exemptions should be recorded in minutes of meetings if normally kept.
- 4. Any business relationship between an individual (or a company where the individual is an owner or in a position of authority) and the BIA, outside of their relationship as a Board or staff member must be formalized in writing and approved by the Board.

Using a self-assessment tool can be beneficial and transformational for a board.

You can find The City of Calgary's self-assessment tool here: orghealthprint. questionpro.ca

Appendix G – Self-assessment tool

It is a healthy practice for Board members to assess the quality of their own Board operations. Many times, Board members "don't know what they don't know" about their own Board or organization.

Completing an assessment tool allows a Board member to check on how well it is carrying out key responsibilities. It gives Board members a chance to also step back and ask, "How are we doing as a Board?" and, "How can we improve on the way we operate?" Boards that assess themselves can better identify areas in which they are performing well, areas for improvement and areas of concern. All this adds up to a better understanding of the organization's health and making a greater difference for the people they serve.

Organizational health can include the following areas:

- Strategic direction
- Board governance
- Finances and funding
- Programs, services and events
- Spaces/facility
- Human resources
- Public relations

It is recommended that the assessment tool, or a section of the assessment tool, be completed or reviewed once a year by your Board of directors. It is best if all Board members participate in this process whether through group discussion or completing a copy of the tool on their own.

Effective Board members have learned that it's critical to regularly conduct evaluations then work on key priorities identified through the year. Discussing assessment results can encourage more cohesion and clarity among Board members by strengthening communications among them. Additional benefits include: improved understanding of what it means to be an effective Board; agreement on Board roles and responsibilities; and, members' renewed dedication to the Board.

Appendix H – Board governance templates 102

Best practices on running effective meetings

Call to order/confirm quorum

It is important to confirm quorum at the beginning of the meeting. This dictates the process for decision-making.

- Quorum met, proceed with business meeting using bylaws to guide the decision making process
- Quorum not met; there needs to be a documented decision on process for managing decisions

For example: to ratify old business items at a duly constituted meeting of the Board (a Board meeting where quorum has been established, and is therefore legal), to have a Board vote "approve/validate/ratify" business decisions that were made at a previous meeting. Note: ratifying Board meeting decisions retroactively is a process for either correcting mistakes or tying up loose ends for recording in meeting minutes, which are public record; ratification is not a process in place to be used liberally.

Note attendance and regrets

This is the role of the secretary. This individual should take roll call and identify absences or those excused.

Agenda

The role of the chair is to call for any additions to the agenda. There should not be many cases where additions are made as the call for agenda items should be made prior to the meeting. Once all comments are heard and changes made, if necessary, motion to accept.

It is a best practice to assign timelines to each of the points on the agenda and the person responsible for speaking to that item. This assists in being able to effectively moderate the discussion and keep the meeting moving forward.

Minutes

It is an important best practice to distribute the minutes/supporting documents as soon after the meeting as possible (usually within 24 hours) to all who attended, any invitees who did not attend and anyone else affected by the discussion. Distributing the minutes informs those not at the meeting of the progress that was made and reminds every one of their action items. This will also reduce the amount of time required during meetings to approve minutes.

Financial report

The treasurer delivers the financial report and answers any questions. This is simply an explanation of the financial situation as it now stands – any discussion of fundraising or economies should come elsewhere in the meeting under its own agenda item.

It is a best practice for the chair to have a brief discussion with the treasurer before the meeting to be sure that she/he/they are on top of the figures.

Conducting business

Some best practices include:

- Provide a supporting documentation for each issue which includes recommendations for further action.
- Any motions or amendments should be in writing. This is not only for the convenience of the secretary but so that it can be shown that decisions have been made according to the rules in case there is any argument later.
- Decisions should be made in the form of motions, even when everybody agrees on them and there's no need for a vote.

Adjournment of a meeting

Some best practices include:

- Briefly review decisions and in particular the actions resulting from the discussions.
- Identify when the meeting minutes will be distributed (i.e. within a week) as they are an aide to help people remember what they have agreed to do.
- Confirm the next meeting date and time to make sure everyone is able to attend.
- Finally, thank the meeting participants for taking part. Remember that as volunteers, they have made a serious investment of their time to support the BIA and its cause.

Simplified Roberts Rules of Order

Note: This is one tool on how to run meetings but there are many resources online.

Guiding principle

- Everyone has the right to participate in discussion if they wish, before anyone may speak a second time.
- Everyone has the right to know what is going on at all times.
- · Only urgent matters may interrupt a speaker.
- Only one item (motion) can be discussed at a time.

A motion is the topic under discussion (e.g., "I move that we add a coffee break to this meeting."). After being recognized by the chair of the board, any member can introduce a motion when no other motion is on the table. A motion requires a second to be considered. Each motion must be disposed of (passed, defeated, tabled, referred to committee, or postponed indefinitely) before another motion or item can be discussed.

How to do things

You want to bring up a new idea before the group

• After recognition by the chair of the board, present your motion. A second is required for the motion to go to the floor for discussion, or consideration.

You want to change some of the wording in a motion under discussion

- After recognition by the chair of the board, move to amend by:
- Adding words
- Atriking words
- Striking and inserting words

You like the idea of a motion being discussed, but you need to reword it beyond simple word changes

• Move to substitute your motion for the original motion. If it is seconded, discussion will continue on both motions and eventually the board will vote on which motion they prefer.

You want more study and/or investigation given to the idea being discussed

• Move to refer to a committee. Try to be specific as to the charge to the committee.

You want more time personally to study the proposal being discussed

• Move to postpone to a definite time or date.

You are tired of the current discussion

• Move to limit debate to a set period of time or to a set number of speakers. Requires a 2/3rds vote.

You have heard enough discussion

- Move to close the debate which requires a 2/3rds vote.
- Or move to previous question. This cuts off discussion and brings the board to a vote on the pending question only which requires a 2/3rds vote.

You want to postpone a motion until some later time

• Move to table the motion. The motion may be taken from the table after one item of business has been conducted. If the motion is not taken from the table by the end of the next meeting, it is dead. To kill a motion at the time it is tabled requires a 2/3rds vote. A majority is required to table a motion without killing it.

You believe the discussion has drifted away from the agenda and want to bring it back

· Call for orders of the day.

You want to take a short break

· Move to recess for a set period of time.

You want to end the meeting

Move to adjourn.

You are confused about a procedure being used and want clarification

• Call for "point of information" or "point of parliamentary inquiry." The chair of the board will ask you to state your question and will attempt to clarify the situation.

You have changed your mind about something that was voted on earlier in the meeting for which you were on the winning side

• Move to reconsider. If the majority agrees, the motion comes back on the floor as though the vote had n ot occurred.

You want to change an action voted on at an earlier meeting

• Move to rescind. If previous written notice is given, a simple majority is required. If no notice is given, a two-thirds vote is required.

You may INTERRUPT a speaker for these reasons only:

- To get information about business Point of information
- To get information about rules Parliamentary inquiry
- If you can't hear, safety reasons, comfort, etc. Question of privilege
- If you see a breach of the rules Point of order
- If you disagree with the chair of the board's ruling Appeal

Minute taking best practices

It is best practice to:

- Distribute minutes as soon after a board meeting as possible as it acts as a record for action items and allows members that missed the meeting to become informed on decisions and actions
- Have a copy of the approved minutes signed by two members of the board and filed within a minute book to minimize concerns regarding hearsay and disagreements.

It is recommended that minutes include the following:

- · Name of the organization.
- · Location, date and time of the meeting,
- Time the meeting starts and ends.
- Names of the directors and other individuals present at the meeting.
- Notation of the existence of a quorum.
- · Approval of the minutes from the last meeting.
- Notation of the time when individuals entered or left the meeting (if applicable).
- Brief summaries or descriptions of any presentations made at the meeting and the names of the individuals making the presentation.
- Highlights of written reports considered by the directors, which may be attached to the minutes as an appendix.
- Descriptions of any discussions and time spent on information or reports provided to the directors in advance of the meeting on subjects considered at the meeting.
- Delegations made by the board and the reason for the delegation.
- Summaries of each major issue or subject matter before the board for deliberation including:
- A description of any issues raised, materials considered, and arguments, pro and con.
- Notation of the length of time the subject matter was deliberated by the directors.
- Highlights of the points made in deliberation and discussions.
- The rationale discussed by the directors in reaching a decision.
- Information obtained from specialists, consultants, lawyers, and experts, which may be attached to minutes.
- All motions made at the meeting and the board's vote.
- The minutes should reflect a board acting as one in reaching decisions.
- Only director abstentions or recusals should be noted in the minutes for conflict of interest issues.
- Upon request, a director who disagrees with the outcome of a vote may have his/her/they name noted in the minutes as a dissenting voter.
- Name and of the person who took the minutes.
